Dear -
I don't really know you very well, but you've been one of the people I remember most from last year. I'm glad we were in this class together. Summer is almost over and maybe we can get to know each other better. BE GOOD!
Love ya lots & have a great year,
Tessa

One easily becomes lost
in a sea of statistics, struggling, searching for a way to be recognized as an individual,
to be different
like everyone else.

Today is for searching,
for anxiously trying new ideas.
So much turns out to be disappointments flimsy illusions that burst leaving us with nothing.

New ideas are meaningless
for novelty's sake alone,
But do not ridicule
or regard with spite,
Continue your search for the beat of a different drum.

POLL

Students Show Responsibility With Community Involvement

1971-1972 proved to be a year that students used to find their place in the world. Eighteen year olds were given most of the rights of adulthood. Many students became involved in community and worldwide issues.

Students did volunteer work and discussed personal problems with others in an effort to discover more about themselves and their purpose in life.

Lance Poldberg (below middle) exercises his right to vote during the election for the Grape Day Park proposal. After turning 18, all boys are required to register for the draft as Bob Conlen (below) is doing. Marcy Boyle (above far left) participates in the Walk for Muscular Dystrophy, a cause for which many clubs served.

Students Adjust To Crowded Conditions, As EHS Year Begins

Confusion confronted most students as the 1971-72 school year began. Because 400 more students attended EHS than the school was designed to accommodate, a split session was begun. An alternating lunch schedule was also developed. Students ate at different lunch periods every week, starting at 10:30 or 11:30 a.m.

Despite these schedule differences, students quickly settled down into the routine of school life.

Early in the year a group of students took it upon themselves to improve the conditions in the restrooms. Though the students worked long hours, problems arose when all the restrooms were painted at the same time.

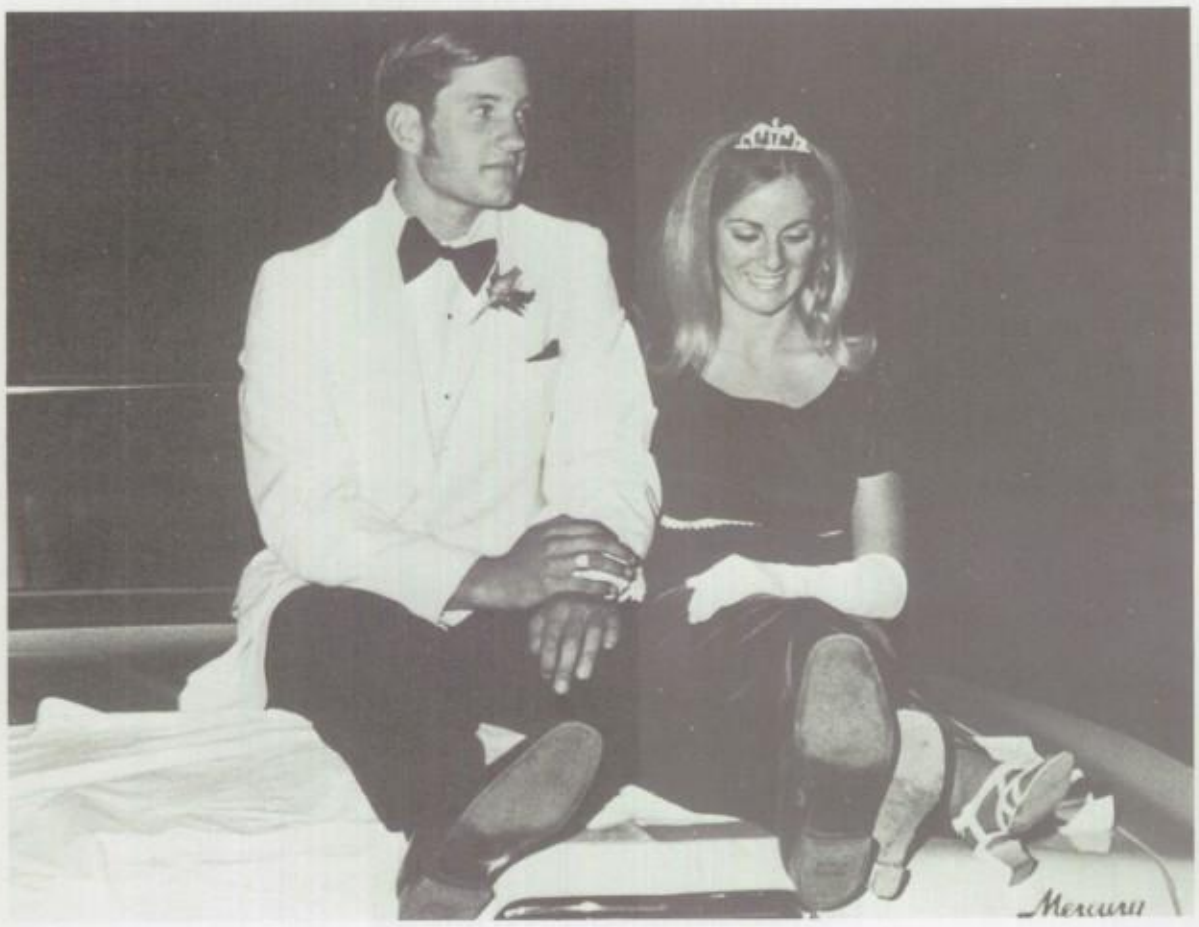
Linda, Steve Crowned Royalty As Fog Lifts For Coronation

Though it dominated the first half of the homecoming game, the fog lifted at half-time to reveal the EHS homecoming court. The court was introduced and the names of the king and queen were announced for the first time. Mike Wingo, ASB president, and Jeri Bebout, last year's homecoming queen, crowned the king before a crowd of 8,000 people.



Jeri Bebout, last year's homecoming queen (left), gives Steve Wagner, homecoming king, a kiss as this year's homecoming queen, Linda Rhamey, and ASB president, Mike Wingo, look on. Inge Weeks and Tracy Hawk, freshman princess and prince (far left), look into the stands during half-time ceremonies. Sophomore royalty Adolpho Gonzoles and Marissa Lowe (above) watch as the other members of the court walk up the red carpet to their seats of honor in the stands. Mark Umphres and Debbie Kaus (far left), senior prince and princess, circle the track before the coronation begins. Keith Rhodes and Sherri Baber, junior prince and princess, with Steve Wagner and Linda Rhamey, king and queen (upper middle), listen as the band plays at the homecoming ceremonies.

Last Cheer For Chuck Conover Highlights Homecoming Rally

Highlighting the 1971 homecoming pep rally were custodian Chuck Conover and Coach "Chick" Embrey. A special cheer, led by Captain Dave Goger, was done honoring Chuck as it was his last pep rally to attend while working at Escondido High. He worked here 13 years and retired in December.

At the pep rally a special 3-legged race was run as competition between the classes; the Senior Class prevailed as the most powerful.

Returning varsity cheerleaders also cheered on the Cougar football team to an exciting victory over Oceanside.

Other events occurring at homecoming were a balloon sale by Girls' League and a homecoming dance sponsored by Key Club.

Spirit Rallied To New Heights By Cheerleaders

Throughout the year the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders' outstanding enthusiasm was displayed at sporting events, pep rallies and school. The cheerleaders supported the athletic teams by bringing the football players oranges during hot summer practices, placing spirit posters on cross country team lockers, and making cupcakes for many team members.

Student Apathy Diminishes While Season Advances

Spirit was promoted this year by many clubs and groups around campus. The cheerleaders strove to bring spirit to a new high. The Cougarettes performed with the band during half time at football and basketball games and at pep rallies. Posters made by the Pep Club decorated the school halls in an attempt to promote more school spirit. Although silence prevailed at the first pep rallies, most of the students' spirit was aroused during many of the last football games.

Winter Vacation Celebrated With Traditional Practices

The Christmas season started with the traditional decorating of Christmas trees throughout the school. Christmas cards were exchanged by friends sending peace and goodwill to others. The sale of mistletoe by the cheerleaders was another means used to spread the Christmas spirit. There was a Senior Ditch Day on the last day before vacation. Students were busy organizing parties and trips to the snow.

School Dress Code Revision Inspires Creative Fashions

Along with the revised dress code came a variety of different types of attire around school. Girls and boys alike were allowed to wear shorts and any other clothing that they felt was appropriate for school. Boys were allowed to grow moustaches and sideburns.

Students also used their imaginations to create fashions that they wore such as macramé and leather belts and jewelry. The 1971-72 school year was a year of extreme fashion contrasts.

Girls' League, GAA Sponsor Successful Winter Activities

The Sadie Hawkin's Dance was sponsored by the Girls' League and the Girls' Athletic Association. It was held in January.

The seniors were again victorious in the Powderpuff Football Game, coming from behind in the final minutes to win by a score of 18 to 12. The game took place in February.

The atmosphere of "Dogpatch" (bottom left) prevailed at the Sadies because of the decorating done by the Girls' League and the Girls' Athletic Association.

Students View Wide Variety Of Assemblies During School Year

A wide variety of cultural works were introduced to EHS students this year as the ASB presented entertainers of many different ethnic groups for assemblies.

Andre Crouch and the Disciples performed Negro folk songs and spirituals. The Estudiantina de Culiacan performed songs and dances from their homeland, Mexico. Esteban Ramon sang Mexican folk songs and Princess Pale Moon spoke and sang of the American Indian heritage. George Sharp, a hypnotist, presented an interesting and entertaining demonstration of hypnotic suggestion.

Princess Pale Moon (far left) puts on a special program for Indian students where she sings and tells about the history of the American Indian. Estaudiantina de Culiacan (lower middle) talk to the students after performing for an assembly. Another assembly sponsored by the ASB starred André Crouch (upper middle). Estebañ Ramon (left) sings at an assembly for Mexican-American students and Spanish speakers. Joretta Wright, Patty Porch and Steve Wagner, under hypnotic suggestion, (below) perform amusing antics.

EHS ASB Cabinet Helps To Plan San Pasqual ASB

As construction at San Pasqual High School began, Associated Student Body Cabinet of EHS was asked to help organize student government for the new school.

Under the leadership of the executive officers Mike Wingo, president; George Weir, vice-president; Jane Georges, secretary; and Janet Beech, treasurer; the Student Congress put on programs and tried to instill more interest in student government.

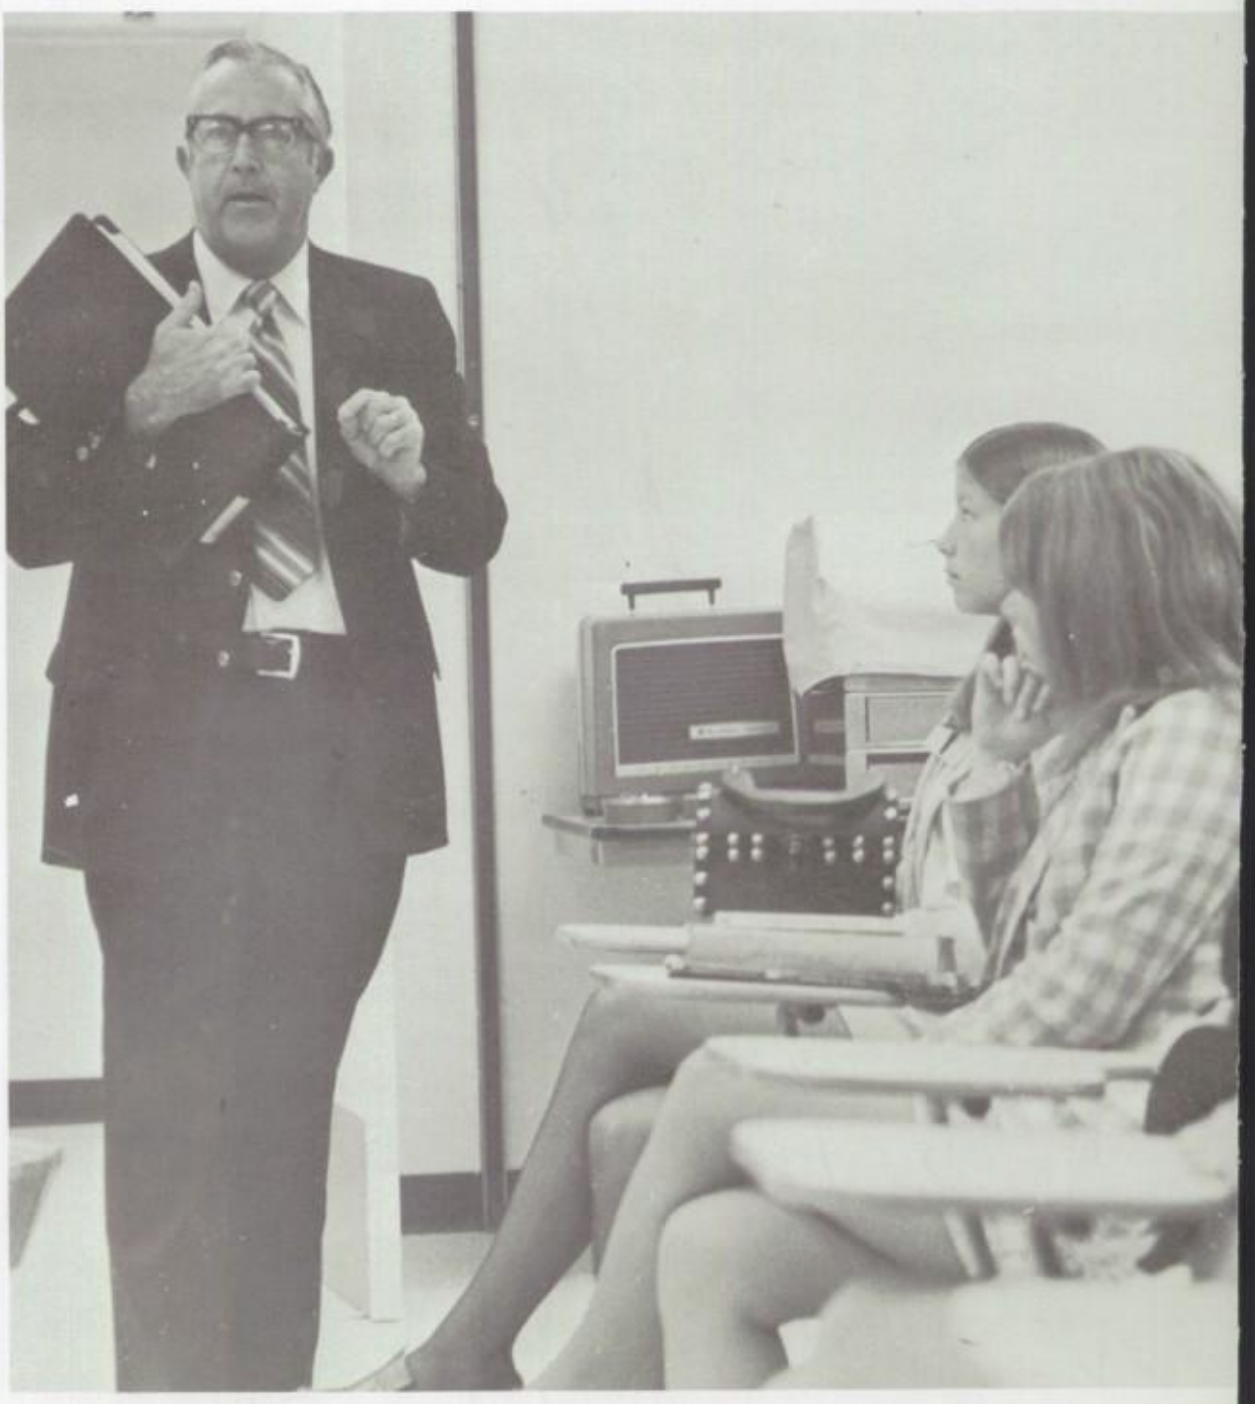
DE Visits Sears, Runs Concessions During Football

Visiting Sears retail stores and operating the concessions at football games were two important activities added to the Distributive Education class.

The football concessions provided students with the opportunity to operate a business. They did all the ordering, preparing and selling required to run the refreshment stands. Gross income was nearly $11,000 and the net profit was over $3,300.

Gaining business knowledge first hand was the purpose of the first semester visits by the DE class to Sears. Key personnel at the stores discussed their jobs at the meetings.



Mr. Don McCaffery (right), Sears store manager, talks to the Distributive Education class. Jerry Davis (upper left) sells refreshments at the football game. At Sears, DE students (above) learn about business operation. Mr. Richard Lievers (upper right), Career Guidance counselor, explains the program to a student. Ken Jones (far right) washes windows as part of his Work Experience job.

Career Guidance Center Forms; Work Experience Progresses

In order to help students to establish ideas about future vocations, a Career Guidance Center (CGC) was formed at Escondido High School.

Major emphasis this year was placed on the Sophomore Class. Instructional units for use in the health and safety classes were devised and vocational interest surveys were given. Resource materials and part time job opportunities were available for all students at the CGC.

Mr. Richard Lievers, CGC counselor, also planned for the future. By visiting other schools, he obtained ideas about the type of materials that proved to be most successful.

Work Experience (WE), the course which gives students on-the-job training, became part of the CGC this year.

Major change in the two-year-old program was the method of giving credits for graduation. This year students received one credit for every 36 hours worked at their off-campus jobs.

Monthly instruction meetings were held for the 125 students who participated in WE. Items such as Social Security, insurance, workman's compensation and fringe benefits were discussed.

Students In Science Class Investigate Air Pollution

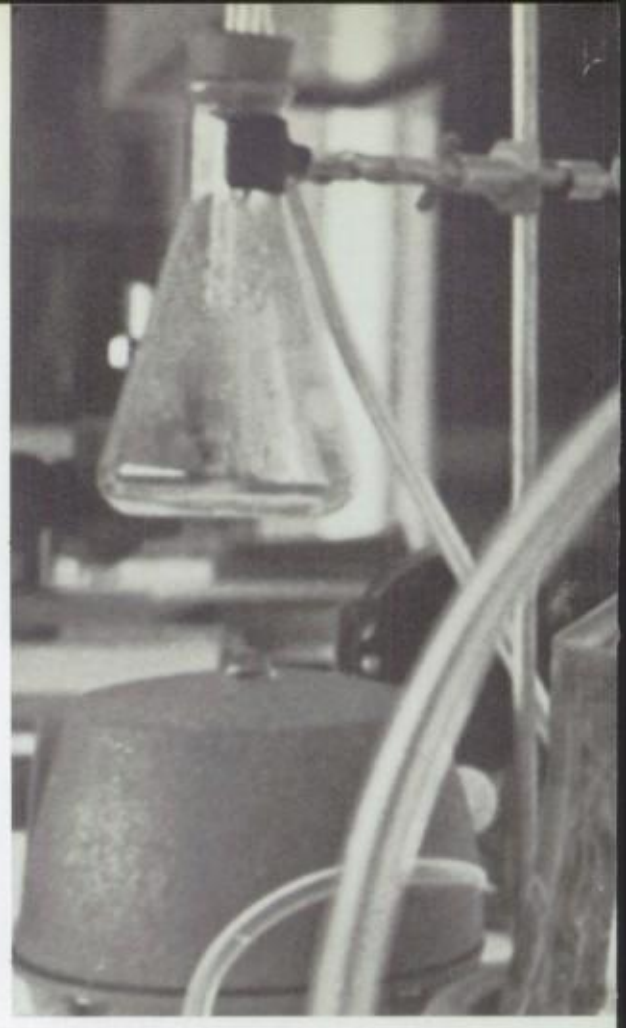
Sampling air pollution and testing the quality of water were among the key activities done in environmental science, (ES), a new course this year.

Testing the quality of air on campus, the ES students found that the air inside the classroom was dirtier than the air outside. The students also analyzed automobile emissions and discovered most cars' emission output exceeded the standards allowed in California.

A field trip to the state air pollution center in Riverside was taken during the first semester.

While studying the quality of water, students tested for bacteria contents in the local water. Also, they took a field trip to Santee to visit the reclamation plant in operation there.

Land conservation and the effect of radiation on plant growth were given special attention during the year.



Physiology, Biology

Science Courses Make Additions In Curriculum

Additions to both the biology and physiology classes were made this year.

For the 95 physiology students, more detailed dissection of the cat, new slides concerning pathology and extra-credit reports based on medical journals were added by instructor William Ulman.

In Mr. William Townsend's biology classes, inquiry film loops, designed to get students to question and observe in solving problems, were used. Regular inquiry labs continued to supplement classroom instruction.

Mr. Bernard Danylchuk, environmental science instructor, and Bill McLennan (far left) test the quality of air with a filter device on the top of a classroom roof. A self-operating experiment (top left) checks the quality of water. Measuring air pollution, Keith Rhodes (left) gives close attention to his work. Library Adds 500 New Books As Mirise Serves Final Year

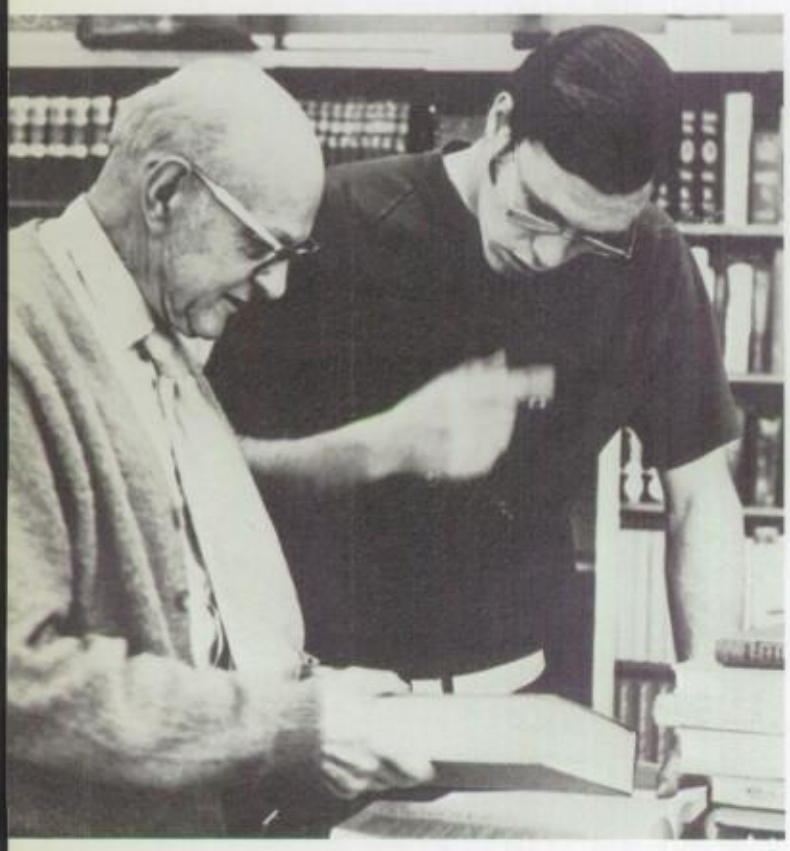
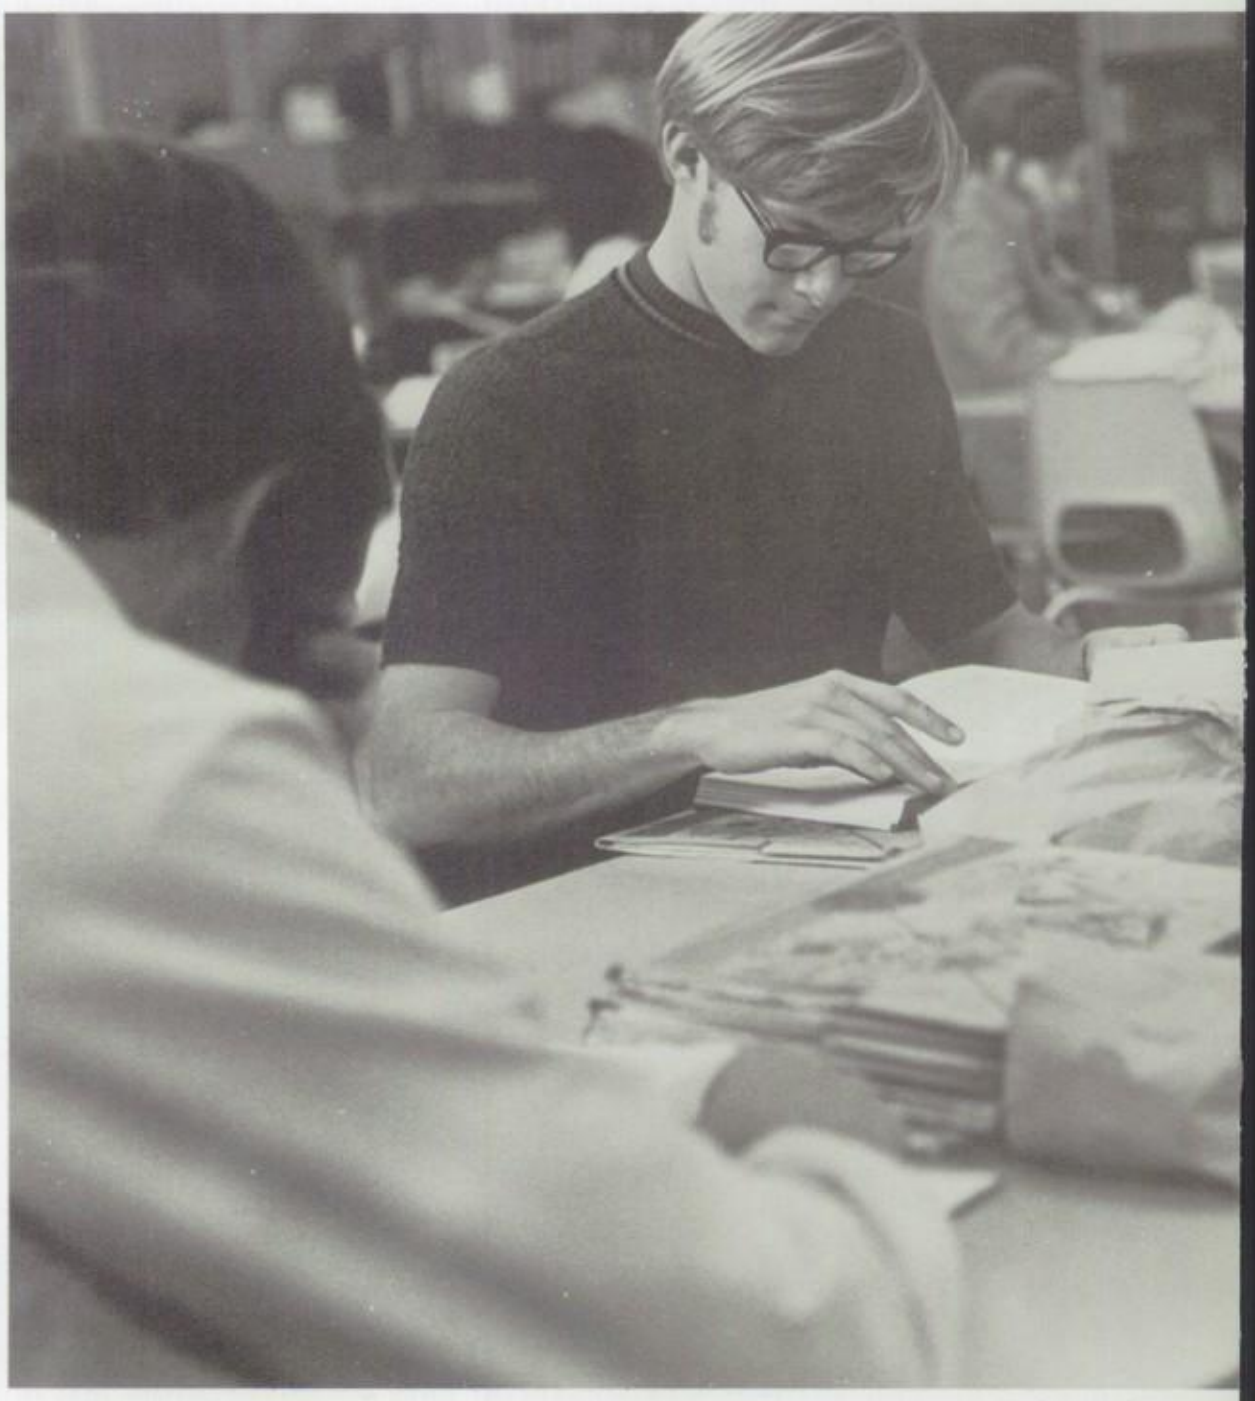
By adding 500 books this year, the Escondido High School library boosted its total number of volumes to 11,324.

A stereo tape recorder and motion picture and slide projectors were other additions to the library.

The effort of last year to build a bigger reference section continued during 1971-72. A set of Spanish encyclopedias was the major addition to this reference section.

After working 21 years at EHS, librarian Edwin Mirise announced he is retiring following this school year. Mr. Mirise originally served at the old EHS campus and, after the new campus was constructed, supervised the growth of the present library.





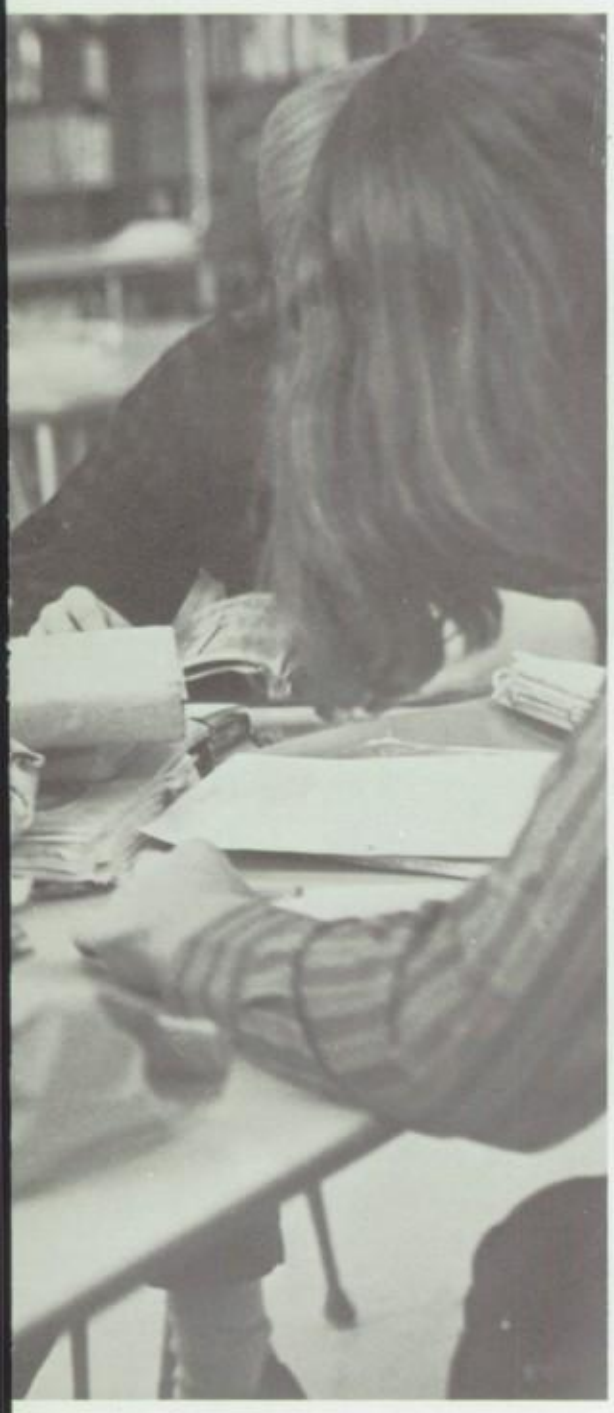
Mr. Edwin Mirise (above) helps Mike Williams with a research project. Jerry DeGroot, Steve Whiting and Mark Culbertson (near right) find time to study in the library. Mrs. Irene Brouillet (above right) explains to Pam Verdugo a chart which tells the duties of each office training student. Mary Ann Liebriech (far right) files cards in the library. Nancy Boaz (below right) takes calls through the office switchboard.

Enrollment Rises As Office Class Enters 10th Year

Office training entered its tenth year at Escondido High School with a record enrollment of 152 students.

Before school started, the office training students prepared for their upcoming jobs at a special orientation meeting in which they received their job assignments. Mrs. Margaret Trussell, girls' assistant principal, discussed the responsibilities of the office training student.

When school opened, the students were placed in various office jobs on campus such as assistants to teachers, office personnel and counselors.



New Simulators Become Part Of Driver Training Program

Driver simulators, designed to develop driving skills and awareness, became part of the driver training program at Escondido High School this year.

In the simulators a series of films showing both normal driving conditions and possible accidents was presented as the students, each with a set of driving controls, reacted as if they were actually driving. Meanwhile, a computer recorded the actions of each driver and provided the instructor with an analysis including both correct procedures and errors.

Containing 16 sets of drives controls, the simulator trailer arrived on campus in November and stayed for a third of the year.

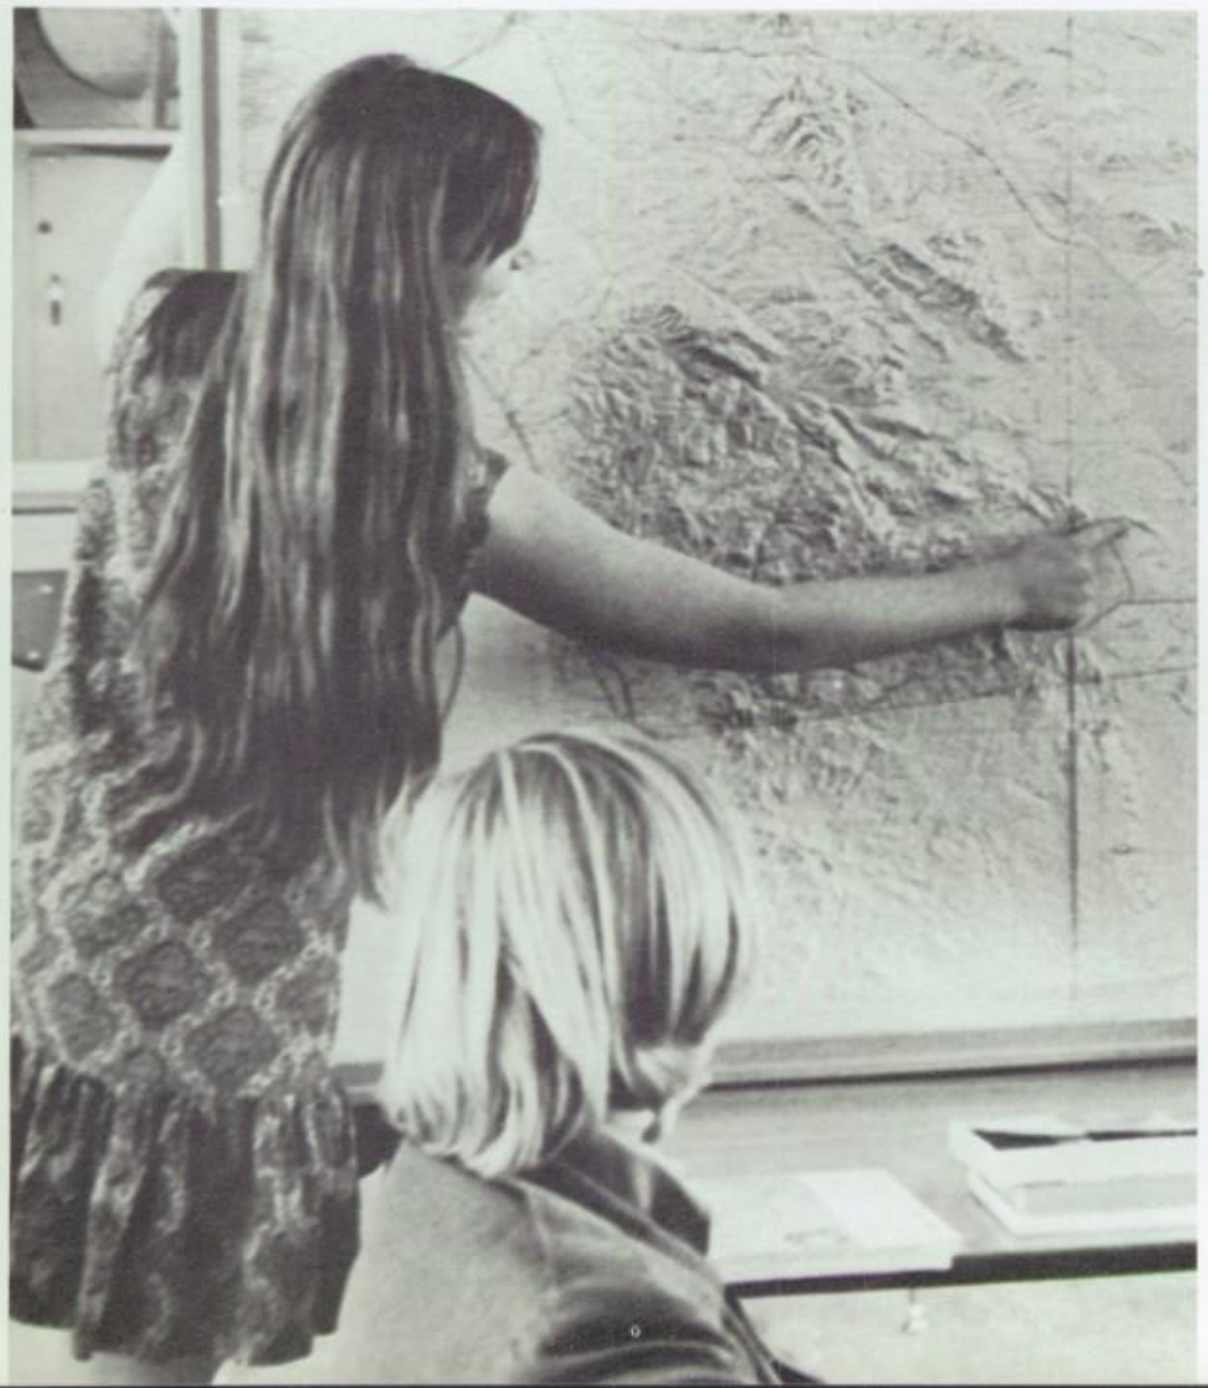
San Diego, Orient Studied In New Geography Course

Geography of the Orient and San Diego County was introduced as a course this year at Escondido High School.

The geographical facts behind the news of Vietnam, China and other Oriental countries were discussed during the first semester.

In the second semester, San Diego County's geography was studied. Main focus was on man's use of the climatic, vegetative, geologic and soil resources of the local area.



Cougar Introduces New Format; Gong Staff Sponsors Assembly

A change in format highlighted the year of The Cougar. The student newspaper switched to a tabloid size paper which included eight pages each issue. The front page in the new format previewed the major stories included inside the paper. Because of the new design, feature stories and accompanying pictures were given major emphasis.

Before the school year started, editor-in-chief Rick Sheridan and managing editor Glae Thien attended a workshop at Brigham Young University.

To promote the sales of yearbooks, The Gong Staff sponsored an all-school assembly in October. A slide show was presented and history teacher Robert McKinley explained the advantages of purchasing the 1972 Gong.

In September, The Gong staff held a preschool workshop to prepare for the upcoming year. Marianne Heid was editor-in-chief this year and Rick Hollins was managing editor.

Both publication staffs attended a west coast three-day convention in Los Angeles in April.

Innovations Used In EHS English, French Classes

New ideas and materials were introduced in two Escondido High School language courses this year.

New film strips concerning France were shown in all French Classes. In French III and IV, students tried a new system of independent study. Much of the work, such as reading French novels, was done on their own time.

Art and Man, a student magazine, was used in Miss Claudia Keithley's English classes to show the relationship between art, literature, science and music. Students in these English classes also attended plays at Palomar College.

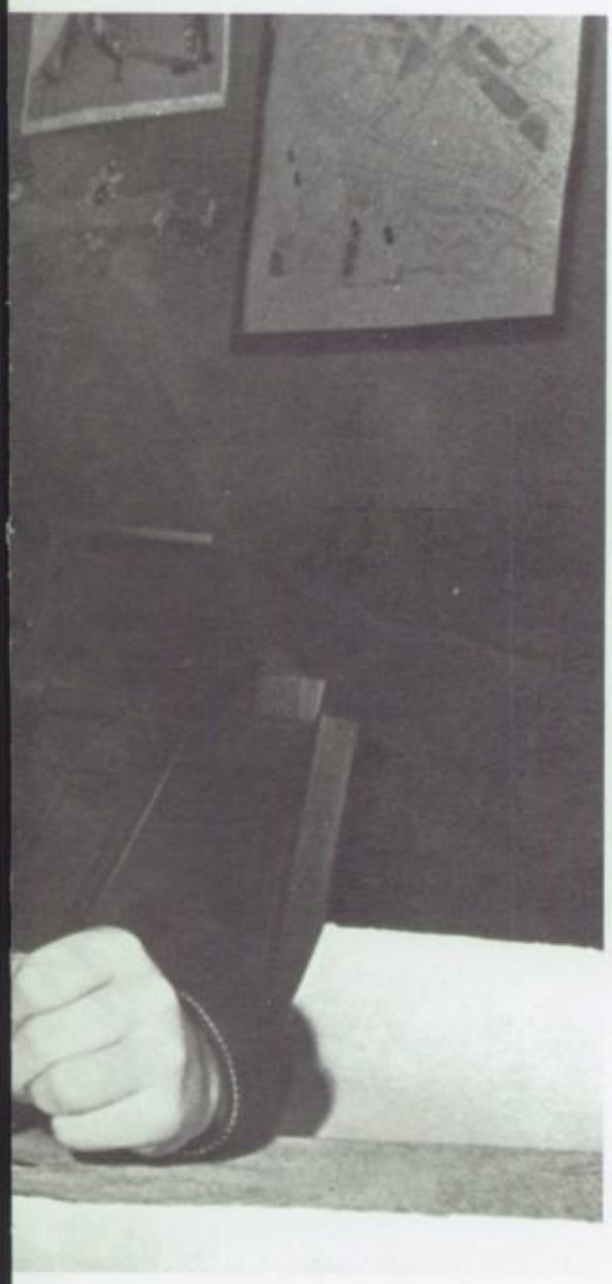
Self-Improvement Objective Of Students In Special Class

A new method of instruction, Precision Teaching, was used this year in the Educationally Handicapped Program.

In a nearly pressure-free atmosphere, each student completed various work sheets in a certain amount of time. Then after the work was corrected, the student recorded the results on a special chart which gave a day-by-day account of his progress. The goal of the student was to continually improve.

Teacher Charles Leaf was assisted by student aides, who helped the students develop remedial skills.



Class Compares Political Ideas, Economic Values

Comparative politics and economics became a new class at Escondido High School this year.

Politics, which included the study of ideology, decision making and the rights of the citizen, was instructed in the first semester and economics, which covered the "what and how" of various economics, was explained in the second half of the year.

Games and simulations were used during the year as a learning device.

Experimentation Highlights Year In Psychology

Experiments and field trips highlighted the psychology classes this year.

The Vista School for the Retarded and the Fairview State Mental Hospital were the special places visited by the 120 psychology students.

In order to better understand psychological conditioning, the students experimented with fish and rats during the first part of the year. Later, while studying personality, the students gave themselves attitude tests.

Intelligence, heredity and environment, mental health, mental illness and advertising techniques were emphasized this year. Discussions and special reading materials aided the students.

Students Gain College Credit By Taking New EHS Math Class

Students enrolled in calculus, a new mathematics course at Escondido High School this year received college credit for their work.

With only five students in the class, a one-to-one basis between instructor Richard Nation and each student was established. Each day the students turned in their homework assignments before school started, and Mr. Nation graded the papers before class began.

Strongly involved with the calculus class was the use of the computer. Whenever they could, the students used the computer to do calculations.

In March the students participated in the San Diego State College Math Field Day and in April traveled to the California State Polytechnic College to compete in that school's math contest.

Mass Media Class Explores Forms Of Communication

The study of media other than the newspaper was included in mass media, a course extension of Journalism I.

While doing various projects, the students in mass media used television, still photography, motion pictures and tape recorders to present their work.

The methods of persuasion, propaganda and the use of different media in political campaigns were analyzed during this second semester class.

23 CSF Life Members Honored; Classes Have Special Projects

A special installation dinner, attended by over 200 people highlighted the year for the California Scholarship Federation. Adviser William Townsend awarded the 23 life members of the CSF Lamp Pins at the affair in recognition of their scholastic achievement.

The CSF members visited the Palomar Mountain Observatory and held a whale excursion as their field trips.

In other activities, the CSF helped in the Muscular Dystrophy Drive and participated in the Student Tutoring Program.

The Crafts classes took a study trip to San Diego State College and the San Diego Zoo this year. Students in the class also benefited from the addition of an aluminum smelting pot which was used on various projects.

About 80 students from the stagecraft and Drama I classes helped in the construction of the set of the spring musical, "Of Thee I Sing." The set was built in the cafeteria and then transferred to the gymnasium.

State and local government received special emphasis in the advanced civics classes instructed by Mr. Roy Williamson. Students visited with the city council and its officials during their study of Escondido, and later, while studying California, wrote sample bills for use in the state legislature.

Defending Champions Take 3rd Place In Avo League

Escondido's hopes of an undefeated season picked to defend their championship title for the fourth straight year. Having back what seemed to be a great nucleus on defense, the Cougars posted a 5-4 overall record and tied for third place in the Avocado League.

In their first game of the season the Cougars defeated Fallbrook 14-0. Fine defensive performances were put in by Doug Deaver and Chris Wood.

Escondido's hopes of an undefeated season were shattered in their second encounter. The Cougars were blitzed by San Diego, in a non-league loss, 26-0. The Cougar defense was stifled by the Cavemen's quickness.

The Cougar offense had a difficult time in putting points on the scoreboard in its next two games. Hard luck saw the Cougars defeated in the final minutes by Poway, 14-12. However, in their next game, the Cougar offense came through with 14 points and the defense held for a 14-0 victory over Carlsbad.

Cougars End Season Winning In Closing Minutes Of Game

After a mid-season loss to Vista, 14-7, the Cougars began to pick up the pace. Taking on undefeated San Dieguito in their next game, Escondido came out victorious 12-0.

The Cougars were denied a post-season playoff berth when they were defeated by cross-town rival Orange Glen, 13-12.

The Cougars' final two outings of the season proved to be the most exciting. In the final minutes of their Homecoming game with Oceanside, the Cougars came from behind to win 29-28. In a close game with San Marcos, Escondido came from behind to win, 30-26, to end a successful season.

Speeches, Play, Convention Highlight Forum, Drama, FTA

Breaking the tradition of a comedy in the fall, the Drama Club put on "Summertree," a contemporary play concerned with the generation gap and the anti-war feeling of today's youth. This year's Drama Club president was Cindy Birdsell.

Under the leadership of president Jessie Oakes, the Future Teachers of America revised the club's constitution written in 1957. The FTA also held a bake sale to raise money to go to the teachers convention held at the Sheraton Hotel Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles during April. The other officers were Mark Garretson, vice president; Layne Reibel, secretary; and Marion Martin, treasurer.

Members of the Open Forum participated in various speech competitions in events ranging from debate to extemporaneous speeches and from dramatic interpretations to humorous interpretations. Among the speech competitions they participated in were oratorial contests sponsored by the Rotary Club, the American Legion, and the Native Sons of California.

Activities Pivot Around ICC; Health Club Enlarges Scope

Novel fund-raising ideas such as the selling of Christmas cards, buttons and stationery were among the many topics discussed by the Interclub Council this year. ICC also discussed the possible coordinating of club efforts to insure the success of certain activities. ICC gave an award to the most active club on campus. This year's ICC president was Roger Elrod.

Health Club sponsored Health Careers' Day for all students interested in paramedical professions. Other activities promoted by Health Club were various field trips to different medical institutions.

Service Groups Keep Traditions; Geologists Dig

Among the traditional duties carried out by Alphas and Cougar Knights were helping at Parents' Night and eighth grade visitation, taking tickets at football and basketball games and tallying ballots at elections. This year both clubs participated for the first time in The Walk for Muscular Dystrophy. Since nobody ran for office in Boys' League, Cougar Knights assumed the duties of Boys' League such as the liming of the "E."

Two weekend trips to Amboy highlighted the activities of the newly formed geology club. Before going on these educational field trips the members studied about various forms of fossils.

Math Club Learns From Computer; Key Club Attends Convention

Activities sponsored by Key Club this year were the Homecoming dance and the selling of Halloween Insurance. The profits from these went for a $200 scholarship for a graduating senior and a $50 bond for the Sweetheart. President was Brad Silva; Vice President was Brian Farrar.

Key Club Sweetheart this year was Joretta Wright. She was chosen on the basis of leadership, citizenship, scholarship and beauty. First runner-up was Marcia Culbertson.

Spring activities included a National Key Club Convention in Miami, Florida, which two Key Club members attended, and a pot luck at Felicita Park for Sweethearts, Key Club members and their families.

Math Club members busied themselves this year in such activities as a field trip to San Diego State College and the programming of a computer. Mr. Richard Nation, adviser, assisted members in the furthering of their math education. This year's president was Tom Maher.

AFS Members Visit Disneyland; French Club Sponsors Banquet

Under the leadership of Chris Thurston, the American Field Service started its activities this year by sponsoring the Get-Acquainted Dance. Soon after two busloads of students spent a Sunday at Disneyland. A party was held at Shakey's Pizza Parlor after the Orange Glen-Escondido basketball game. AFS also sponsored a pot luck for the club's members and their parents, and an AFS weekend for all foreign-exchange students in the North County.

Mario Montero from Argentina was this year's foreign exchange student. Besides participating in AFS, Mario was also a kicker for the varsity football team. Marcia Myerson and Marcia Culbertson were selected as this year's Americans Abroad semifinalists.

Every month members of the French Club attended the meetings of the French Alliance in Balboa Park highlighted by native French speakers. At the end of the year the French Club held a dinner featuring French cuisine. Lori Dresselhaus was president.

Indian, MAYA Clubs Explore Education; Skiers Form Club

A better self-image and the study of the Indian culture and heritage were discussed by Indian Club this year. A representative from San Diego State College came to talk about opportunities for Indians in college. Mr. Vito Busalacchi was the adviser and Arlene Rodriguez was this year's president.

Striving to understand more clearly the history and culture of the Mexican people was the primary goal of the Mexican American Youth Association. Esteban Ramon, a folk singer, sang at an assembly held for all Spanish students. MAYA members hosted a University musical group, Estudiantinas Culiacan.

Interested students joined together to form a ski club for the first time at Escondido High School. Members of the club went on weekend excursions to Big Bear and Mammoth.

Chess Club Displays Skill, FFA Explores Farming Career

Orange Glen High School's Chess Club gave the Escondido High School's club tough competition in matches at both schools. Although the pressure was on, Escondido came through with a 35-10 victory. The Chess Club had weekly meetings Mondays after school to improve their skills for future matches. President of the Chess Club was Ed Dominque.

Future Farmers of America consisted of students interested in agriculture as a career. Members gained farming experience through the care of animals and through the planting and harvesting of crops. Besides holding regular meetings, the members had a steak fry in October. An awards' banquet was held in May. Jim Wood was president of FFA.

Change In School Scheduling Proves Beneficial For GAA

The organization of the Girls' Athletic Association was greatly bolstered this year by the school's split-schedule. All girls involved in sports were in a special seventh period physical education class; therefore, the hassle of after-school practices was eliminated.

New orange-colored uniforms were provided for the girls' athletic teams with money from the ASB. The money needed to buy the black numbers to put on the uniforms was raised through a variety of fund-raising projects. Among these fund-raising projects were the selling of stationery, bulletin boards, and decals.

At the end of the year a GAA banquet was held. The officers were Denise Wilson, president; and Marcia Meyerson, secretary, with each sport having a representative on the board.

Interact Members Help District; New Aero Rocket Club Is Formed

A barbecue at the beginning of the year was the first social event held by Interact Club. Other events were Christmas caroling and a trip to Disneyland. Interact participated in many activities that were services to the community such as the Muscular Dystrophy Walk in November, and the Cystic Fibrosis Drive in March. A rummage sale was also held to raise money to send to an orphanage in Mexico. President was Robbie Putnam and Vice President was Shirley Colonello.

To provide interested students with an opportunity to hold meets, a rocket club was started this year. At these meets, the student-built rockets are measured on such items as parachute duration and spot landing. President was Mark Wansa and adviser was Mr. James Rybolt.

Running concession stands at football games not only supplied the Distributive Education Club of America with money for activities but also gave members experience in business management. Ladell Turk, president of DECA, was chosen to represent the club at the National Convention held in San Diego.

Carburators weren't the only part of the car repaired by Auto Club members. These students gave their time to the repairing of used cars during school hours and after school.

Publication of The Cougar gave the Quill and Scroll members a great deal of experience in the field of journalism. Staff members made up the membership of Quill and Scroll. A banquet with entertainment and presentations of awards was given in honor of the members.

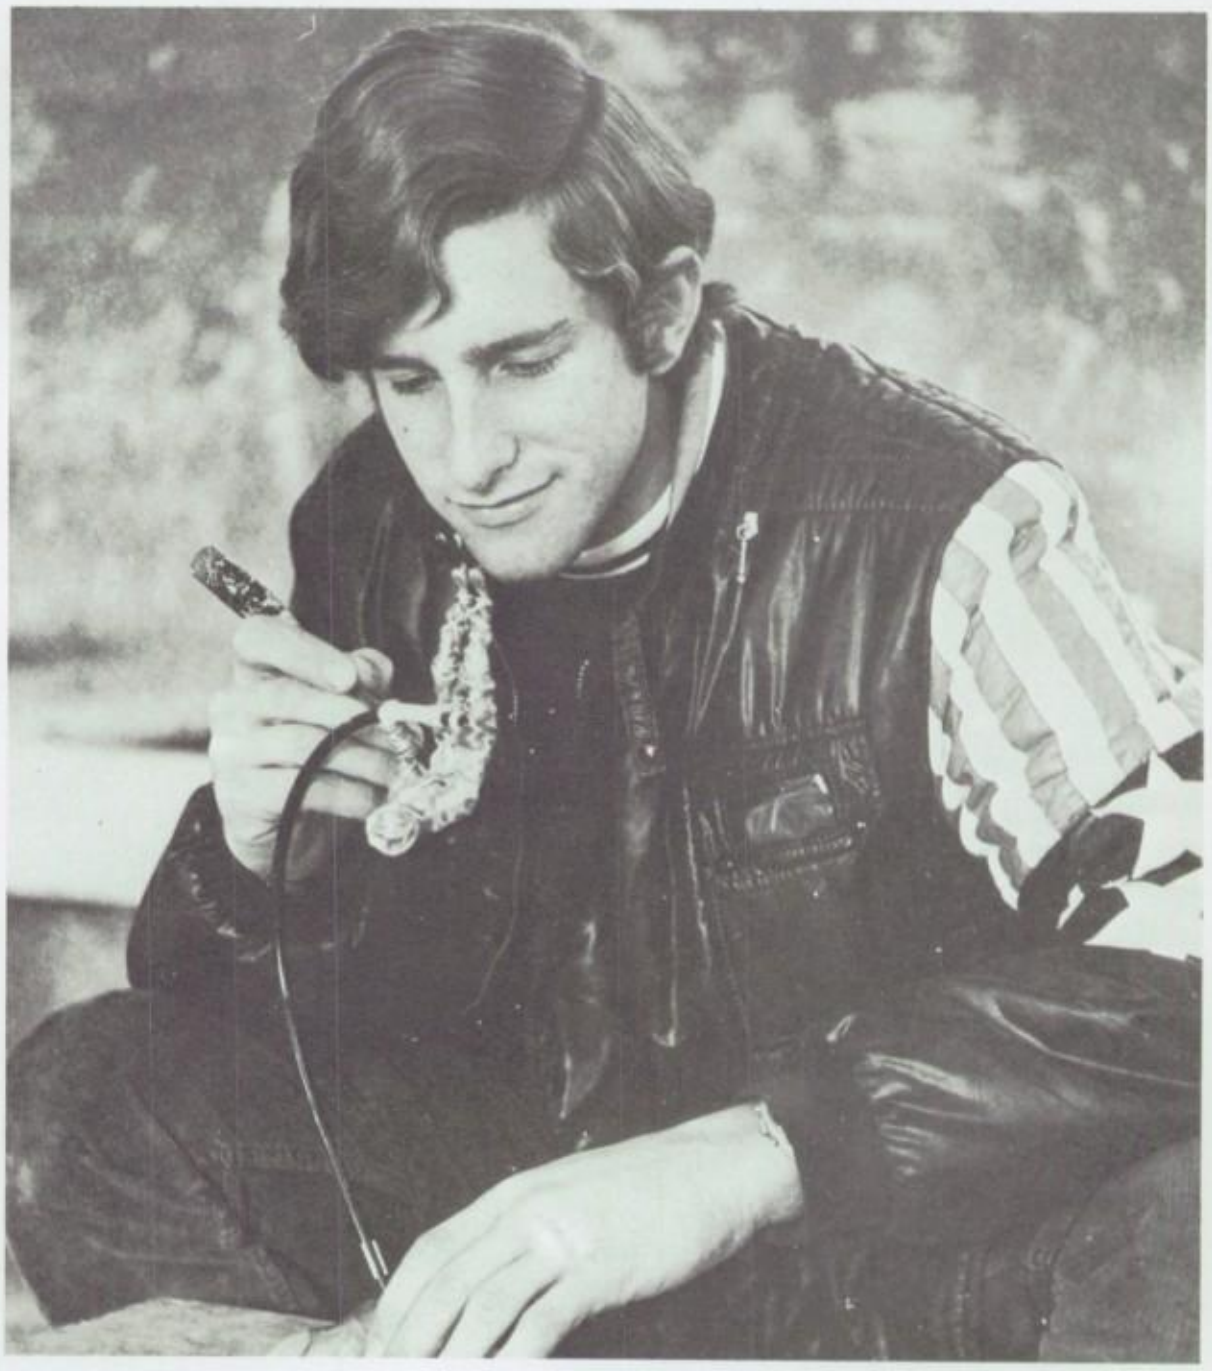
Photos, Sculptures, Health Of Humanity Concern Students

Taking, developing and enlarging pictures are the main duties of the Photography Club. The members spent most of their time in the dark room learning the names and uses of different photo equipment. Cinematography, a branch of the Photography Club, experimented on new film techniques.

Every Thursday afternoon, members of Craftsman's Guild assembled to work on various projects. These projects included the making of crockery and leather articles.

Activities of Environmental Action ranged from the fighting of smog to the fighting against the city council's proposed plan to route Highway 78 through the middle of the city. Environmental Action also promoted the riding of bicycles or walking to school on Earth Day. Because of the wide interest the student body displayed concerning the environment, a new class, environmental science, was organized this year.



Girls' League, Varsity Club Sponsor Senior Scholarships

Keeping with tradition, Girls' League held their annual Big Sister, Little Sister functions during the first few months of school. A watermelon feed, for Senior girls and their "little sisters," was held during the summer. Fund-raising projects included the selling of balloons during Homecoming, car washes, bake sales, candy sales, and the annual Orange Glen Spirit Breakfast. Other activities sponsored by Girls' League were the Junior, Senior Powderpuff Football game, a spring fashion show for all girls, and the Sadie Hawkins dance, sponsored by both Girls' League and GAA. Girls' League also gave a $100 scholarship to a deserving senior girl.

One of the main objectives of Varsity Club this year was to provide scholarships for outgoing senior boys. This was accomplished by the performance of the Harlem Magicians and the selling of spirit ribbons during football season.

Other club projects this year ranged from sponsoring Senior Awards Night for senior athletes to the club attending a major league baseball game.

Cougarettes, Modern Ensemble, Pep Club Radiate Enthusiasm

Halftime shows, parades and school performances were among the activities highlighted by Cougarettes. A banquet was held at the end of the year to welcome new members. The announcement of new leaders for the next year was also made. Officers for this year were Kim Bishop, drill team captain; Sue Sacker, banner captain; Janet Shaw, and Patty Hegle, drill team lieutenants.

Painting posters and displaying them at pep rallies and football games and on campus were the main activities of the Pep Club this year. They also participated in several skits at the pep rallies. Ginny Matthews was the president.

Modern Ensemble was kept busy this year performing in various shows. Under the direction of Mr. Dick Harvey, the group performed for many schools in the district during the Christmas holidays. They also did a variety show, "Evening Off North Broadway" and continued their role as back-up group for the annual musical.

Band, Notables Provide Musical Entertainment

Escondido Winged Cougar Marching Band members gave much of their time this year practicing for halftime performances, parades and band festivals. Bonnie van Dam, majorette, was selected to march with the McDonalds' All American Band in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day and Rose Parades. Kerry Johnson was drum major.

Notables continued to give performances both on and off campus. Among these performances were a Christmas show at St. Mary's School and monthly performances for the wounded at Camp Pendelton. Performances were also held for the student body several times during the school year.

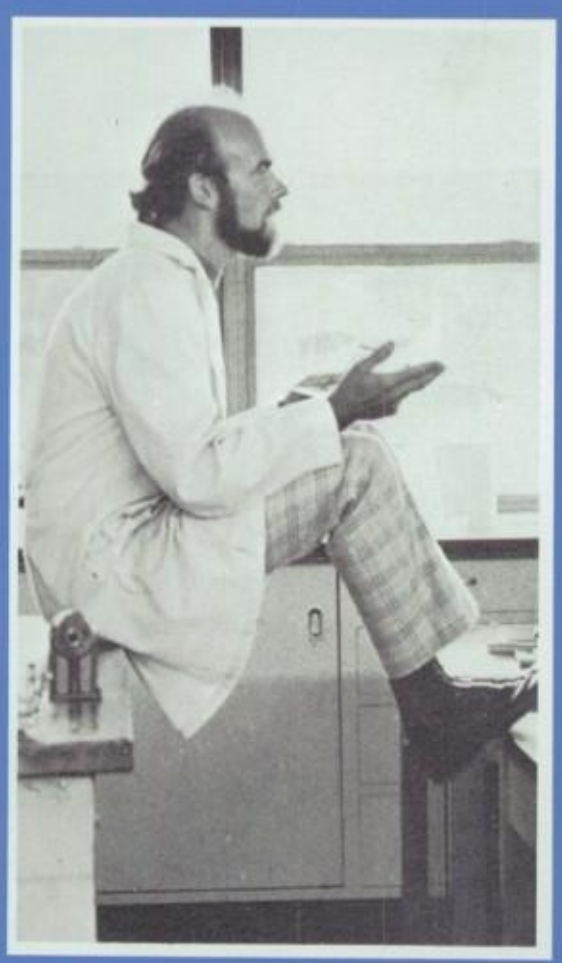
People



As the population of our world increases, so must we struggle to rid our lives of symmetrical values and strive for true self-expression in our existence.

10 Teach First Year At EHS; Nearly 25 To Switch To SPHS

Ten teachers were newcomers to Escondido High School this year.

Mrs. Greta Blash, Mrs. Sally Davis, Miss Nancy Coolidge, Mr. Robert Dozier, Mrs. Sydney Fox, Mr. Jon Landen, Mrs. Helen Peterson, Mrs. Susan Provini, Mr. James Rybolt and Mr. Michael Williams were the instructors who entered their first year at EHS.

Close to 25 faculty members finished their last year at EHS, Principal K. Allen Foucar reported. These teachers will transfer to the new San Pasqual High School next school year.

Teachers Advance Education

Jones, Bradley Earn Masters; 24 Study In Summer School

Two Escondido High School teachers earned masters degrees this year and 24 others attended summer school.

Mr. William Jones obtained his masters degree this June from San Diego State College (SDSC). His special study project concerned year-round schools. Last August, instructional television and auto mechanics teacher John T. Bradley also received his masters degree from SDSC.

Financed by grants from the National Science Foundation, three EHS science teachers, Mr. William Townsend, Mr. Bernard Danylchuk and Mr. James Dodin, researched special science interests.

Special Team Teaches Driver Training; Duncan Ends Career

A special team of teachers was organized this year to teach driver training in the simulator trailers and on the road.

Recruited from all three district schools, teachers Gil Zinniker, Len Johnson, Brad Merrill, Jim McGlothlin and Bill Valentine stayed with the driver training unit as it visited the different schools throughout the school year.

Each day each teacher spent four hours with students in the car, and one hour in the simulator trailer.

This special method of teaching driver training involved 12 hours with the simulator, nine hours simply observing in the car, and three hours of actual driving for each student.

Athletic Director William Duncan, who arrived in 1941 announced his retirement effective at the end of this school year. During his tenure as a coach, cross country, wrestling, swimming and golf were added as interscholastic sports, the present football stadium was constructed, and EHS switched from the Metropolitan League to local Avocado League.

Administration Reorganizes; SPHS Major Concern Of Board

Revising the administrative structure and helping in key school projects were the major activities of the Escondido High School administration.

To provide better service, the administration split the school into seven divisions — counseling, humanities, language, basic administration, special education, scima and technology. An administrator headed each division.

In other action the administration assisted others in establishing the Career Guidance Center, connecting all rooms with instructional television, adding driver simulators to the drivers training program and starting new courses, such as Environmental Science. Also, the administration added new personnel for school security.

The opening of San Pasqual was a major concern of the Escondido Union High School District Board of Trustees. The trustees prepared for the new school by hiring Mr. Leland Dimon as principal, establishing new boundaries and organizing a new staff of teachers. Later, the Board made plans for a bond issue to finance the remaining construction of SPHS.

Other key activities included revising the district policy handbook and working toward the establishment of definite district goals and objectives.

Administrative Changes Made; New Security Personnel Added

Four Escondido High School faculty members will assume new duties as administrators in the Escondido Union High School District next school year.

Mr. Charles Leaf will become assistant principal at the new San Pasqual High School, while Coach William Green will head the athletic program at SPHS.

Mr. Don Hegerle, presently assistant principal at EHS, has been named the principal at San Marcos High School for the coming school year. Safety teacher Mr. David Jenkins will take over as assistant principal at EHS.

As a result of a special government program to increase employment, Mr. George Arviso was hired by EHS as a special security aide in September. Later, Mr. Ted (Ski) Wrobleski was hired to assist in the boys' Physical Education Department. Both jobs held by these men were created this year.

Controversy over who was to pay for the Senior Group Portrait developed when the Gong Staff announced the budget couldn't cover it. The seniors ended controversy by paying for the picture out of the class funds.

Junior Class Members Plan Carwash, Prom, Ribbon Sales

The Junior Class was busy making plans for the Junior-Senior prom this year. Two successful activities were held in an attempt to raise the funds necessary for the event. Ribbons bearing the words "Good Luck Chuck" were sold by Juniors showing their appreciation for the services rendered by Chuck Conover, custodian who retired. The second activity was a carwash held in February. Junior girls opposed the Senior Girls in an exciting game of powder puff football, in which skills learned through team practice were employed.

Carwashes, Joint School Projects Raise Money For 1973 Prom

Enthusiastic Sophomores held a successful carwash in October. As a result of this success, two more carwashes were planned for later in the year. The funds raised are to be used for the Junior-Senior Prom next year. Sophomores hoped to establish better relations with cross-town rival, Orange Glen High School, by planning joint activities. One of the activities planned is a football game between the two classes.

Freshman Class Plans Include Carwash, Baseball Spirit Week

Freshmen began their fund-raising activities as a class in preparation for the 1974 prom. In addition to a carwash held in March, a rather unique activity was planned. Freshmen participated in a baseball spirit week for their team. Such an event was a first for the school.

Our grateful appreciation to John Daly, official yearbook photographer; the Times-Advocate photography department; and Mr. Bruce Church of Taylor Publishing Co. for their assistance and cooperation.

(End sheet subject is Lupe Alfaro, EHS junior)

Our future has been planned though one cannot resist changes.
Do not disrupt another's philosophy,
but strive to be individual.
Listen for a different drum.
